

Dear Applicant,

Thank you for your interest in working with Peer Power. This pack contains information about the role, who we're looking for and how to apply.

I founded Peer Power as a response to what children and young people across England and Wales said needed to change to improve support services like youth justice, mental health and social care, and because of my own lived experience of adversity and trauma. We are a small, diverse, warm and open team, and the successful applicant can expect to work in a positive, wellbeing focussed and flexible environment with generous annual leave and training.

We are looking to recruit a Peer Engagement Worker who is brilliant at engaging children, teenagers and young adults through strong, caring and positive relationships. Someone who is committed to social justice and able to support and inspire young people to drive the system change they want to see. They will be able to safely share parts of their experiences and wisdom that will help to inspire hope and belief in others and will recruit, engage and support young people through trusted and empathic peer relationships and facilitate a range of peer led groups that focus on wellbeing, personal development, social action and improving health, social care, violence reduction and justice services.

Having a diverse team is fundamental to our mission. We are embedding anti-racist and anti-oppressive practices across our business plan, projects, policies and recruitment processes and are committed to being an equitable workplace. Our recruitment process is built to eliminate unconscious bias, for example, applications are anonymised before review by the panel. We encourage applications from people who are underrepresented in the charity sector, and particularly those who have lived experience of the systems it is our mission to change, such as in justice, social care or health. You can find out more about our commitment to equal opportunities on the final page of this job pack, along with details on how to contact us if there are any reasonable adjustments you'd like to request.

With my best wishes,

Anne-Marie Douglas – Founder & CEO, Peer Power
